You don't suppose that he got it wrong, do you? Could all of his effort have been for nothing?

I think that's exactly right. OCD will do that to a person. Poor,

34. Fw: An Obama win will be more than historic - a lot of interesting information - you should read it!

An Obama Win Will Be More Than Historic
By THOMAS SOWELL | Posted Thursday, October 30, 2008 4:30 PM PT

Some elections are routine, some are important and some are historic. If Sen. John McCain wins this election, it will probably go down in history as routine. But if Sen. Barack Obama wins, it is more likely to be historic - and catastrophic.

Once the election is over, the glittering generalities of rhetoric and style will mean nothing. Everything will depend on performance in facing huge challenges, domestic and foreign.

Performance is where Barack Obama has nothing to show for his political career, either in Illinois or in Washington.

Policies that he proposes under the banner of "change" are almost all policies that have been tried repeatedly in other countries - and failed repeatedly in other countries.

Politicians telling businesses how to operate? That's been tried in countries around the world, especially during the second half of the 20th century. It has failed so often and so badly that even socialist and communist governments were freeing up their markets by the end of the century.

The economies of China and India began their takeoff into high rates of growth when they got rid of precisely the kinds of policies that Obama is advocating for the U.S. under the magic mantra of "change."

Putting restrictions on international trade in order to save jobs at home? That was tried here with the Hawley-Smoot tariff during the Great Depression.

Unemployment was 9% when that tariff was passed to save jobs, but unemployment went up instead of down, and reached 25% before the decade was over.

Higher taxes to "spread the wealth around," as Obama puts it? The idea of redistributing wealth has turned into the reality of redistributing poverty, in countries where wealth has fled and the production of new wealth has been stifled by a lack of incentives.

Economic disasters, however, may pale by comparison with the catastrophe of Iran with nuclear weapons. Glib rhetoric about Iran being "a small country," as Obama called it, will be a bitter irony for Americans who will have to live in the shadow of a nuclear threat that cannot be deterred, as that of the Soviet Union could be, by the threat of a nuclear counterattack.

Suicidal fanatics cannot be deterred. If they are willing to die and we are not, then we are at their mercy - and they have no mercy.

Moreover, once they get nuclear weapons, that is a situation which cannot be reversed, either in this generation or in generations to come.

Is this the legacy we wish to leave our children and grandchildren, by voting on the basis of style and symbolism, rather than substance?

If Barack Obama thinks that such a catastrophe can be avoided by sitting down and talking with the leaders of Iran, then he is repeating a fallacy that helped bring on World War II.

In a nuclear age, one country does not have to send troops to occupy another country in order to conquer it. A country is conquered if another country can dictate who rules it, as the Mongols once did with Russia, and as Osama bin Laden tried to do when he threatened retaliation against places in the United States that voted for George W. Bush. But he didn't have nuclear weapons to back up that threat - yet.

America has never been a conquered country, so it may be very hard for most Americans even to conceive what that can mean. After France was conquered in 1940, it was reduced to turning over some of its own innocent citizens to the Nazis to kill, just because those citizens were Jewish.

Do you think our leaders wouldn't do that? Not even if the alternative was to see New York and Los Angeles go up in mushroom clouds? If I were Jewish, I wouldn't bet my life on that.

What the Middle East fanatics want is not just our resources or even our lives, but our humiliation first, in whatever sadistic ways they can think of. Their lust for humiliation has already been repeatedly demonstrated in their videotaped beheadings that find such an eager market in the Middle East.

None of this can be prevented by glib talk, but only by character, courage and decisive actions - none of which Barack Obama has ever demonstrated.

http://www.screedbomb.info/coosn/
Q: Who is eligible for a COOSN?

A: Kookologists with 10 or more verifiable UV points may exchange these points for a Cabal Obsidian Order Sombrero Number.

Q: Who is not eligible for a COOSN?

A: Certified net.kooks; notorious net.cretins; terminally clueless fuckwits; previous winners of kook-awards, unless an official pardon has been granted by the FNVW.

Q: How do I apply for a COOSN?

A: Make a Usenet post to alt.usenet.kooks (crossposting to your favourite newsgroups is acceptable); to ensure that the FNVW actually sees your request, try to use either of the following formats for the subject line:

[COOSN Application] Your name (or best known handle) here
[COOSN Request] Your name (or best known handle) here

Please provide a list of 10 UV points - along with verifiable evidence for each point wherever possible.

Q: Can one Kookologist nominate another Kookologist for a COOSN?

A: Yes, but the proposer should supply a verifiable list of 10 UV points for the nominee at the time of the nomination. Also, the nominee must accept the nomination before a COOSN is issued.

Q: What happens if my Sombrero Number application is refused by the FNVW?

A: The Office of Darth Bawl is always looking for new candidates. Nuff said.

Q: What are "UV points"?
1. Threats of violence, especially death. (one point per kook)
2. Lists, i.e. real lists, not just mentions of two or three names in the same post. One list per kook, unless the lists are clearly meant to serve different purposes.
3. Fanboi sites (one point per kook, not one point per site. Minimum qualification is a whole page about you; pages containing lists don't score extra if the list also appears on Usenet).
4. Fanboi newsgroups (one point per kook, not one point per group)
5. Attempts at real-life contact (e.g. posting phone numbers)
6. Fake awards, revenge nominations etc. (one point per kook)
7. Mentions in a newsgroup FAQ (e.g. soc.men).
8. Being the target of a Kooksuit (one point per kook).

http://www.screedbomb.info/coosn/
Q: Who is eligible for a COOSN?

A: Kookologists with 10 or more verifiable UV points may exchange these points for a Cabal Obsidian Order Sombrero Number.

Q: Who is not eligible for a COOSN?

A: Certified net.kooks; notorious net.cretins; terminally clueless fuckwits; previous winners of kook-awards, unless an official pardon has been granted by the FNVW.

Q: How do I apply for a COOSN?

A: Make a Usenet post to alt.usenet.kooks (crossposting to your favourite newsgroups is acceptable); to ensure that the FNVW actually sees your request, try to use either of the following formats for the subject line:

[COOSN Application] Your name (or best known handle) here
[COOSN Request] Your name (or best known handle) here

Please provide a list of 10 UV points - along with verifiable evidence for each point wherever possible.

Q: Can one Kookologist nominate another Kookologist for a COOSN?

A: Yes, but the proposer should supply a verifiable list of 10 UV points for the nominee at the time of the nomination. Also, the nominee must accept the nomination before a COOSN is issued.

Q: What happens if my Sombrero Number application is refused by the FNVW?

A: The Office of Darth Bawl is always looking for new candidates. Nuff said.

Q: What are "UV points"?
1. Threats of violence, especially death. (one point per kook)
2. Lists, i.e. real lists, not just mentions of two or three names in the same post. One list per kook, unless the lists are clearly meant to serve different purposes.
3. Fanboi sites (one point per kook, not one point per site. Minimum qualification is a whole page about you; pages containing lists don't score extra if the list also appears on Usenet).
4. Fanboi newsgroups (one point per kook, not one point per group)
5. Attempts at real-life contact (e.g. posting phone numbers)
6. Fake awards, revenge nominations etc. (one point per kook)
7. Mentions in a newsgroup FAQ (e.g. soc.men).
8. Being the target of a Kooksuit (one point per kook).

Way down in Louisiana, Boudreaux's old lady had been pregnant for some time and now the time had come. So he brought her to the doctor and the doctor began to deliver the baby. She had a little boy and the doctor looked over at Boudreaux and said, "Hey, Boudreaux! You just had you-self a son! Ain't dat grand!"
Boudreaux got excited by this, but just then the doctor spoke up and said, "Hold on! We ain't finished yet!" The doctor then delivered a little girl. He said, "Hey, Boudreaux! You got you-self a daughter! She a pretty lil ting, too."
Boudreaux got kind of puzzled by this and then the doctor said, "Hold on, we still ain't got done yet!" The doctor then delivered another boy and said, "Boudreaux, you just had you-self another boy!"
When Boudreaux and his wife went home with their three children, he sat down with his wife and said, "Mama, you remember dat night what we run out of Vaseline and we had to use dat

dere tree-in-one Oil?"
His wife said, "Yeah, I do!"
Boudreaux said, "Man, it's a damn good ting we didn't use no WD-fourty."

I'm white and I play loud music, take drugs, and ride my car on the pavement. I'm not going to admit to the mugging in a public newsgroup.

You are The One. But not The One. The One who is not The One, but is Another One. But you are that One who is The One who is The Other One who is, in fact, The One. All is lost.

A Walsall couple drove their car to Asda only to have their car break down in the car park. The man told his wife to carry on with the shopping while he fixed the car.

The wife returned later to see a small group of people near the car. On closer inspection, she saw a pair of hairy legs protruding from under the chassis.

Unfortunately, although the man was in shorts, his lack of underpants turned his private parts into glaringly public ones. Unable to stand the embarrassment, she dutifully stepped forward, quickly put her hand up his shorts and tucked everything back into place. On regaining her feet she looked across the bonnet and found herself staring at her husband who was standing idly by.

The RAC mechanic, however, had to have three stitches in his forehead.

Not if you coat them in spray-on asbestos.

Then you can use them as directional flaps and it could take off like a harrier.

I do find the story about the Illinois court rulings I heard/read about far-fetched.

However, if the Illinois courts are anything like the California courts, then I can believe it.

I definitely wouldn't put it past the California courts to make such a ruling.

And what could be more scarier over Halloween weekend to two-way radio operators than homeowners' associations? ;)

Some other things I find curious about the judge's ruling in the case of the ham who lost in court over secretly transmitting from his hoa, while the hoa allowed other residents to use frs cb radios against the rules is

1. How can that not be selective enforcement when the hoa rules clearly said cb transmissions are not allowed.

2. The neighbors didn't have to even know if the ham was at home or not while transmitting. Just hearing him on their scanner and recording it to tape was enough.

The court didn't need to know it to get a conviction either. Just the existence of the tape with the ham's voice on it was enough "evidence" of "proof" to get a conviction against the ham.

How do the neighbors and court know that the ham wasn't on his computer using Echolink instead?

In that case, the hams voice would still come over the neighbors' scanner via a two meter repeater or 70 cm repeater without the ham actually transmitting anything at all from the hoa.

However, good luck in getting judges and hoas to believe that one.

Now to be fair, I did read some rules from a hoa which did allow both CB and ham radio antennas.

As long as ALL cb and ham radio antennas are buried underground exactly like the cable tv antenna wires.

And hooked up exactly like the cable tv antenna wires.

The reason for that is because antennas cause interference so the more antennas there are the more interfference is caused and by making everything go through only one and the same antenna, it eliminates all interference.

It's a good thing for me I don't live there. If I did, I would either

1. Be fined fines I can't afford and in serious legal trouble in court for breaking the law by disobeying the hoa rules by not having my antennas hooked up exactly as the hoa requires.

or

2. Be fined fines I can't afford and in serious legal trouble in court for obeying the hoa rules by having my antennas hooked up exactly as the hoa requires.

Since it's against the law to illegally transmit through cable tv wires.

In the case of the ham who the judge ruled ham radio isn't allowed since it requires a federal license to operate and frs/gmrs is allowed since it doesn't require a federal license to operate:

And the hoa rules forbidding CB which frs is, while allowing other residents to use frs/gmrs

I think if it was me (which it wasn't) then after the court ruling, I would give the Hoa EXACTLY what they want and transmit only on GMRS.

However with a real GMRS radio at a full fifty watts which I would need since I would be truthfully telling everyone I knew on cb and ham that according to the court rulings and law, I am only allowed to talk on GMRS.

along with the court ruling also going for other cbers and ham radio operators in similar hoas with the same rules.

Of course, all the other residents of the hoa would then start complaining that they're not able to use their gmrs radios because when they turn it on, they hear a bunch of cb, ham,former cb, and former ham radio operators talking.

And sometimes hear them talking to me and me talking to them.

But hey, in that case, I'm just following the law and court rulings from the hoa taking me to court in the first place.

If it happened to me, which it didn't.

The ruling was against some ham or so he claimed.

I think Louis was on drugs the whole time he was writing that book.

Let me point out something to you and EskWIRED. Here is the part you didn't see because EskWIRED trimmed it.

Here follows the one true ballot for the October 2008 Usenet Kook Awards. Anybody may vote, but your votes may be disqualified, mocked, burnt, shredded and/or recycled for use as toilet paper or filler for Fluffy's litter box at the Vote Wrangler's discretion if:

* you are a notorious net.kook
* you attempt to vote twice
* you vote anonymously or with an unidentifiable sockpuppet
* you vote for or against yourself
* you vote in a thread other than this one
* you vote in a newsgroup other than AUK without crossposting to AUK
->* you follow up to an incomplete or altered version of the ballot<-
* you have explicitly been disenfranchised by the Vote Wrangler
* you have officially been declared non-existent
* you are under the protection of a Formosa ruling

You followed up to an incomplete version of the ballot. Please go back, at least as far in the thread at Archie's post, and revote. Besides, candidates from misc.survivalism are contesting another award and an office.

Also, you can go back to the original ballot on AUK and vote from that.

Message-ID: <gem8hm$b9q$1@blackhelicopter.databasix.com>

If you can't find either of the posts to which I referred, please respond to this post and I'll forward a copy of the ballot to misc.survivalism, among other groups with candidates (and potential voters eager to cast their ballots for them).

Yes, Ritchie Troy, you are as queer as Marqueer Morgan KB9RQZ is.
Probably a child molester like he is, too.
At least that's what the NY police say.

Maybe LJB could let you have a turn at one of his Honeywell bosses' cocks, that's how he got promoted to chief maintenance engineer.

<lame "awards" flushed, just like Ritchie should've been flushed in the abortion.>

Should be really fun listening to the morbidly obese, knuckle-dragging sloopeheads in 4 and 5 land all evening in 4 and 5 Land!! Yes you can be sure these racist rednecks all up and down 75 Meters should be squealing like stuck pigs when they realize we now have a BLACK MAN as our President and Commander in Chief. Yes sir ree Bob! Only on 75 Meters at night - home of KKK ham radio where it's still sounds like 1947 in rural Mississippi. Oh and BE SURE to tune into the Militialoon and Alex Jones Kook-Konspiracy Net on 3.860 LSB at 8:00 PM Eastern time as this freq should be a real hot-spot of bellyaching and pissing and moaning fun listening up thru the wee hours of the AM.

"he they" You need to look for a new grammer book, Fatty.

shoveanovaupyourass day 3274 of watching a UP retard because his brain is still MIA as of course it must be since you can't act so wacked and stupid and actually believe that law enfocement requires you to report anybody you can think of for an alleged pandering note that everyone knows you created and sent to yourself, OTOH nobody wants to sue because we would have to give our real names and we don't dare do that because the UP kook AKA Fatty will lie and falsely report us too, but in the long run nothing will happen in return as law enforcement is well informed that the UP fool is mentally unstable, that is ok because the kooks fame as a total flake is slowly spreading across the net and in his area, I guess he likes getting banned from web sites and being ejected from ham clubs and is seen as total obtuse impotent buffoon, personally we do not care, but we do enjoy the laughs from time-to-time from the never ending rant, nevertheless it is clear however that the UP
kook has no life, except to victimize his own wife by dragging her down socially in the process. Shalom!

lol...you'll be in denial until you see President Obama taking the Inaugural oath. Your guy Mcain has already lost and it will be made "official" only after the networks get their prime time viewer numbers in the bag. Get used to it and then get over it.

Remember when you were president elect mark? Then you became president booted to the curb shortly after that. Gav got so mad he had to leave early.

It's all in the minutes, well all except everyone laughing at you and gav.
Did he ever recover from that or is he still bummed out?

He's still twice the man you are morkie.

Good Morning from the People's Republic of Steamboat,

The first thing I saw today was snow. Pure...white....peaceful. Then, I watched a rehashing of the rehashing. It's like watching the high lights of a football game your team lost and you sit there thinking the outcome will be different. I saw the crowd outside the White House cheering as they waved a red flag with a yellow hammer and sickle. Same, when the cameras switched to Grant Park in Chicago. Obviously, the students from GW University paid close attention in class as their communist leaning professors spouted all the things a good little Bolshevik should know. One black woman was gleeful as she told the reporter she'll never have to pay to fill her car again. You got it Charlie. There's a whole lot of folk out there who think the money's just "gonna" flow right in, no questions asked. Guess I'd better find a job and come out of retirement, so my taxes can pay for more welfare. I'd just hate to disappoint that woman. If you're running a business, better call your office manager in and tell him or her to put Uncle Same on the payroll.... BIG TIME! Patriotic, you know.

Over on the left coast, I think they just passed a bill that now allows you to marry a squirrel. Of course, in Berkley and SFO, they've had some squirrely people for years. If they'd spend more time trying to control the flow of "ill eagles" into California instead of trying to legalize grass and who knows what else they're smoking, maybe more of the Hollywood types would stay put and not move to Colorado, where they're brought their views. They all come here, because they want that western life style. Then, they long for their liberal ways and want to change things to look like Rodeo Drive in LA.

Well, I've told Judy to put zippers on the pockets in which I carry my wallet. Better to be a step ahead of that fat ass fag Barney Frank. I guess we now just forget about the fact that our President elect might not even be a natural born citizen or any of the laundry list of undesirables he's managed to hang with for years. I wonder if, when Obama went into the voting booth, he just voted present.

FDA News
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Siobhan DeLancey, 301-827-6242
Consumer Inquiries:
888-INFO-FDA

FDA Reports Nationwide Recall of Mislabeled ReliOn Insulin Syringes
The U.S. Food and Drug Administration is notifying health care professionals and patients that Tyco Healthcare Group LP (Covidien) is recalling one lot of ReliOn sterile, single-use, disposable, hypodermic syringes with permanently affixed hypodermic needles due to possible mislabeling. The use of these syringes may lead to patients receiving an overdose of as much as 2.5 times the intended dose, which may lead to hypoglycemia, serious health consequences, and even death.

The recall applies to the following lot number and product information:

-- Lot Number 813900
-- ReliOn 1cc, 31-gauge, 100 units for use with U-100 insulin

Only ReliOn syringes from this lot number and labeled as 100 units for use with U-100 insulin are the subject of the recall.

These syringes are distributed by Can-Am Care Corp and sold only by Wal-Mart at Wal-Mart stores and Sam's Clubs under the ReliOn name. Wal-Mart requests that all users of ReliOn 31-gauge, 1cc syringes return those labeled as 100 units for use with U-100 insulin from Lot Number 813900 to their local Wal-Mart store or Sam's Club pharmacy. Customers will be provided with replacement product.

The FDA urges patients and health care professionals to check their syringe packaging carefully for syringes labeled as 100 units for use with U-100 insulin from Lot Number 813900.

Consumers and health care professionals who suspect they have the recalled product may also contact Covidien at 866-780-5436 or www.relion.com/recall for more information.

ReliOn Insulin Syringes consist of a syringe barrel, a plunger rod, and a hypodermic needle attached to the tip of the syringe.

During the packaging process for this lot, some syringes labeled for use with U-40 insulin were mixed with syringes labeled for use with U-100 insulin, then all packaged individually and in boxes as 100 units for use with U-100 insulin.

The manufacturer has distributed 4,710 boxes in the recalled lot, which equals 471,000 individual syringes. Wal-Mart sold the syringes at Wal-Mart stores and Sam's Clubs from Aug. 1, 2008, until Oct. 8, 2008.

Tyco Healthcare Group LP (Covidien) voluntarily recalled this lot of syringes on Oct. 9, 2008, asking that any units of the affected product be removed from inventory and placed in quarantine. Wal-Mart posted the recall announcement in Wal-Mart stores and Sam's Clubs, as well as on its Web site, and sent letters to more than 16,500 customers notifying them of the recall.

The manufacturer has received one adverse report related to a syringe from this product lot.
Health care professionals and consumers may report serious adverse events (side effects) or product quality problems with the use of this product to the FDA's MedWatch Adverse Event Reporting program either online, by regular mail, fax or phone.

--Online: www.fda.gov/MedWatch/report.htm
--Regular Mail: use postage-paid FDA form 3500 available at: www.fda.gov/MedWatch/getforms.htm and mail to MedWatch, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20852-9787

The poster was not referring to you, channel cop. It was a response to marqueer's bullshit.

Your posts are helpful,and indeed a refreshing addition to this group.
Keep up the good work and thanks!

Thanks, I find my posts although a little OT from time to time - are a LOT better than the same B/S that you find in all of the other posts in this NG

550. NEW FACTS ABOUT EMP - Very Interesting!

NEW FACTS ABOUT EMP
BY R. KENNETH MITCHELL, KA6FRD

The National Communications System (NCS), a governmental entity made up from 22 different Federal agencies, wants ham radio operators and their gear to survive an EMP (Electro-Magnetic Pulse) generated "nuclear event."

NCS engineers have simulated the EMP phenomenon in the laboratory and have subjected various pieces of current amateur radio gear to its effect.

The people at NCS came to some rather surprising conclusions.

In their report they say, "It was concluded that modern solid-state amateur radio equipment was more survivable in an EMP transient environment than had been previously anticipated."

What makes those sophisticated and delicate transistors and ICs so survivable?

The secret is in having two EMP surge protection devices. One is needed on the end where the power comes into the radio and the other on the antenna end where the RF signal goes out.

The NCS tested various commercially available suppression devices designed for both lightning and EMP and, in a move surprising for any governmental agency, issued a report telling which ones worked and which ones didn't.

Their findings and recommendations are outline in a 105-page publication entitled "Electromagnetic Pulse/Transient Threat Testing of Protection Devices for Amateur/Military Affiliate Radio System Equipment"--otherwise known as NCS Technical Information Bulletin 85-10.

When considering EMP protection for transient voltage spikes coming in through commercial power lines, the folks at NCS recommend the TII model 428 plug-in power line protector, an item which costs only $45. But for those a little strapped for cash (and what survivalist isn't), the report shows how you can make one yourself for an estimated cost of only $11.

For EMP protection on the antenna side of a rig, NCS recommends the Fisher series of spikeguard suppressors. They come in a variety of different clamping voltages, depending on the characteristics of a specific station.

The bulletin provides a mathematical formula to determine which fisher model is correct for your radio.

The Fisher devices cost $55, thus giving hams total effective EMP protection for their radios with off-the-shelf items for only $100.

If your radio has a power output of 100 watts or less, a second coax protector was recommended, the PolyPhaser products. They proved to be just as effective as the fisher products but cost somewhat more--$82.95 each. Because of their lower clamping voltages, they are recommended only for lower wattage transmitters.

But again, for those handy with electronics, NCS shows you how to make a simple home-made protection device for your antenna system for only $9.

It was interesting to note that two relatively inexpensive devices simply did not work. The Archer (Radio Shack brand) AC line protector was NOT recommended. Nor was the Alpha Delta brand "Transi Trap" coax protector, commonly advertised in ham radio magazines.

Other interesting findings made by NCS engineers were that portable generators, such as Honda types, were not likely to be adversely effected by EMP at all. Neither were hand-held walkie-talkie type portable radios, particularly those with short stubby "rubber duck" antennas.

The importance of a proper grounding system for amateur radio stations was discussed in the report with specific recommendations for maximum effectiveness.

combination of satirical irreverence and sense of justice that Bruce and to describe a phenomenon that already existed: an organic coalition of stoned hippies and political activists who engaged in such actions as throwing money on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange, then explaining to reporters the meaning of that symbolism. Folksinger Phil Ochs summed it up: "A demonstration should turn you on, not turn you

From Wikipedia:

Sodomy (IPA: /'sɒdəmi/) is a term used today predominantly in law (derived from traditional Christian usage) to describe the act of anal intercourse, oral intercourse, as well as bestiality. When used in a religious context, it has a negative connotation.

Ways To Be Offensive At A Funeral:

Tell the undertaker that he can't close the coffin until you find your contact lens.
Drive behind the widow's limo and keep honking your horn.
At the cemetery, play taps on a kazoo.
Ask the widow if you can have the body to practice tattooing on.

Put Crazy Glue on the deceased's lips just before the widow's last kiss.
Circulate a petition to have the body stuffed instead of buried.
Tell the undertaker that your dog just died and ask if he can sneak him into the coffin.

A woman woke up and told her husband about her last night's dream. "I was at an auction for penises. The big ones sold for $1,000 and the tiny ones for $10."

Husband: "What about one my size?"

Wife: "Didn't get a bid!"

Husband wants revenge, so next morning tells his wife about his last night's dream. "I was at an auction for vaginas. The really tight one's sold for $1,000 and the loose ones for $10."

Wife: "What about ones like mine?"

Husband: "That's where they held the auction."

If you put your child in danger deliberately, you can have your kids taken from you and quite rightly.

An 86 year old man walked into a crowded waiting room and approached the desk.
The Receptionist said, "Yes sir, what are you seeing the Doctor for today?"
"There's something wrong with my dick", he replied.
The receptionist became irritated and said, "You shouldn't come into a crowded waiting room and say things like that."
"Why not? You asked me what was wrong and I told you," he said.
The Receptionist replied; "Now you've caused some embarrassment in this room full of people.
You should have said there is something wrong with your ear or something and discussed the problem further with the Doctor in private."
The man replied, "You shouldn't ask people questions in a room full strangers, if the answer could embarrass anyone.

The man walked out, waited several minutes and then re-entered.
The Receptionist smiled smugly and asked, "Yes??"
"There's something wrong with my ear", he stated.
The Receptionist nodded approvingly and smiled, knowing he had taken her advice. "And what is wrong with your ear, Sir??"
"I can't piss out of it," he replied.
The waiting room erupted in laughter.

The policeman was walking his beat when he saw two men fighting and a little boy standing alongside them crying,
"Daddy, Daddy!"

The officer pulled the two men apart and, turning to the boy, asked, "Which one is your father, lad?"

"I don't know," the boy said, rubbing tears from his eyes. "That's what they're fighting about!"

A Greek and an Italian were sitting in a Starbucks one day discussing who had the superior culture.
Over triple lattes the Greek guy says, "Well, we have the Parthenon."
Arching his eyebrows, the Italian replies, "We have the Coliseum."
The Greek retorts, "We Greeks gave birth to advanced mathematics."
The Italian, nodding agreement, says, "But we built the Roman Empire."

And so on and so on until the Greek comes up with what he thinks will end the discussion.
With a flourish of finality he says, "We invented sex!"
The Italian replies, "That is true, but it was the Italians who introduced it to women!"

Ben Franklin was a little stout later in life and it was said that in Paris a young woman, tapping him on his protruding abdomen, said, "Dr. Franklin, if this were on a woman, we'd know what to think."

And Franklin replied, "half an hour ago, Mademoiselle, it was on a woman, and now what do you think?"

The husband was furious when he found out the cheque account was empty.
When he confronted his wife, she simply said, "It's my turn."
"What do you mean, your turn?" yelled the husband.
"In bed," she explained, "you've been making early withdrawals for years. Now it's my turn."

The teacher in Johnny's school asked the class what their parents did for a living. One little girl said her father was a doctor, another said her mother was an engineer. When it was Little Johnny's turn, he stood up and said "My mom's a whore."

Naturally, after that remark, he got sent off to the principal's office. Then, 15 minutes later, he returned.

So the teacher asked "Did you tell the principal what you said in class?"

Johnny said "Yes"

"Well, what did the principal say?"

"He said that every job is important in our economy, gave me an apple and asked for my phone number."

Mark isn't really interested in wheather you really spam or not, he just uses that as an excuse for continuing with his own disruption of RRAP. The only way to deal with Mark is in real life. Complain to his news providers (abuse@got.net, and abuse@giganews.com) in addition to filing complaints with Google via the "report this post" link. If they receive enough email from enough different people, they will eventually take action.

It's all about the Ice Cream

The most eye-opening civics lesson took place recently in a fourth grade classroom. The presidential election was heating up and some of the children showed an interest. The teacher decided that they would have an election for a class president. They would choose nominees. They would make a campaign speech and the class would vote.

To simplify the process, candidates were nominated by other class members. They discussed what kinds of characteristics these students should have. There were many nominations and from those, Jamie and Olivia were picked to run for the top spot. The class had done a great job in their selections. Both candidates were good kids. The teacher thought Jamie might have an advantage because he got lots of parental support. The teacher had never seen Olivia's parents.

The day arrived when they were to make their speeches and Jamie went first. He had specific ideas about how to make our class a better place. He ended by promising to do his very best. Every one applauded. He sat down and Olivia came to the podium. Her speech was concise. She said, 'If you will vote for me, I will give you ice cream.' She sat down.

The class went wild. 'Yes! Yes! We want ice cream." She surely would say more. She did not have to. A discussion followed. How did she plan to pay for the ice cream? She wasn't sure. Would her parents buy it or would the class pay for it. She didn't know. The class really didn't care. All they were thinking about was ice cream.

Jamie was forgotten. Olivia won by a land slide.

Every time Barrack Obama opens his mouth he offers ice cream, and 60% percent of America reacts like nine year olds.
They want ice cream. The other 40% percent know they're going to have to feed the cow.
